Extract from a Sermon, preached in Chriſt Church and St. Peters, by the Rev. Mr. Abercrombie, Nov. 4th, on the occaſion of opening the ſaid Churches, after the late general ſickneſs; and repeated by him, at the requeſt of the Congregations, on Sunday Nov. 18, 1798.

—TEXT—

"Pſalm 95, verſe 2. Let us come before his preſence with Thankſgiving.

After ſtating ſome of thoſe general inſtances of God's providential goodneſs towards us, which call for our higheſt gratitude, and pointing out ſome of the motives which ſhould lead us thankfully to acknowledge them, the preacher ſolemnly appeals to the conſciences of his hearers, in an enquiry into their conduct under ſuch evidences of divine favor, and thus concludes, with repreſenting the alarming reverſe of circumſtances.

"Already does danger menace us from abroad, under the twofold form of open violence, and the ſtill more alarming, becauſe treacherous, aſpect of inſidious policy. So that, in the language of holy writ, from "abroad the ſword" threateneth, while "at home there is death."

Till within a very few years, the temperature of our climate, has proved in the higheſt degree favorable to health, and ſerenity of mind; and the mortality throughout our continent, was ſcarcely more than what accident, or the natural decline of life, occaſioned: whereas now, the frequent viſitation of Diſeaſe, in its moſt terrific form, deſolates our once flouriſhing cities, by annually baniſhing a great part of their inhabitants from their accuſtomed places of abode, and hurrying, with irreſiſtible rapidity, very many of thoſe whom neceſſity compels to remain, down to the ſilent chambers of the grave.

That theſe coincidently diſtreſſing circumſtances may not have been inflicted as a merited puniſhment for our violation, as a people, of the injunctions of Chriſtianity, and a general deviation from religious and moral rectitude, who can with certainty deny? Yet, when we reflect on the attributes of the Deity—the general economy of his providence—the regular and confirmed operation of phyſical cauſes—and the hiſtory of mankind—we ſhould be particularly cautious in denominating any temporal evil a judgment upon the ſufferer.

The doctrine of a ſuperintending providence is indeed clearly inculcated and proved, in almoſt every page both of the Old and New Teſtament, but we are by no means either authorized or able to diſtinguiſh the particular inſtances of the immediate interference of the Deity! from the ordinary operation of the eſtabliſhed laws of nature.

[Be this however, as it may; it is our part as men to commiſerate with humility and fear the ſufferings of our fellow mortals; and while Chriſtian ſympathy heaves a ſigh, or drops a tear, at the recollection of our late calamity, with all its "ſad variety of woe," let the benevolent and highly meritorious exertions of thoſe of our fellow citizens, who voluntarily riſqued their lives, to alleviate the diſtreſſes of their helpleſs brethren, be ever remembered by us with the moſt reſpectful eſteem, and by thoſe who were the ſubjects of them with the moſt affectionate gratitude. As Chriſtians, let us profit by the numerous examples of mortality, and 'prepare for as ſudden and unexpected' an arreſt, as that which ſo many have ſo lately experienced. That we are yet ſuffered to ſurvive, is ſurely a juſt and a great cauſe of thankſgiving. Human life even when protracted to its utmoſt extent is very ſhort, and the moſt active exertions are indiſpenſably neceſſary to ſecure a bliſſful eternity. That the greater our preparation, the greater will be the degree of our felicity in the next ſtate of exiſtence, neither reaſon nor revelation permit us to doubt. How ineſtimable then, the privilege of having ſtill the opportunity of advancing towards perfection; and, if unhappily hitherto neglected, of now beginning to think, and to act for eternity!

To you, brethren, whoſe deareſt relatives or friends have fallen victims to the late devouring peſtilence, the call to prepare for death and judgment, to watch and to pray, is awfully loud and affecting indeed.

"Our dying friends (ſays the pious Dr. Young) come o'er us like a cloud,
"To damp our brainleſs ardor, and abate
"That glare of life, which often blinds the wiſe.
"Our dying friends are pioneers, to ſmooth
"Our rugged paſs to death. Our ſmitten friends
"Are angels ſent on errands full of love;
"For us they languiſh, and for us they die;
"And ſhall they languiſh, ſhall they die in vain?"
Night Thoughts. 13. 3.

Forbid it, Reaſon! O! Forbid it, Heaven!

Let us therefore diligently improve the late melancholy occurrences which have been permitted to aſſail us, and by which all of us have, in ſome degree or other, been painfully affected. Let us eagerly avail ourſelves of the time and opportunity yet granted to us, for working out our eternal ſalvation. With humility and veneration, with Chriſtian meekneſs and charity, with fervent gratitude, and holy zeal, let us approach our Almighty Creator, preſerver, and conſtant benefactor; and with one mind and one ſpirit, devoutly contemplate the operations of his providence, thankfully acknowledge our experience of his goodneſs, put our whole truſt in him, and henceforth earneſtly endeavour, by the unremitted exerciſe of genuine piety, and the moſt active virtue, "ſo to paſs through things temporal, that we finally looſe not thoſe which are eternal in the heavens."

TO ROBERT WALN, ESQ.

Delegate in the Congreſs of the United States FROM PENNSYLVANIA.

SIR,

EXCUSE the liberty I take in addreſſing to you a few lines, relative to your preſent ſituation.

You are entering a circle in public life, where the duties are manifold and important, where the higheſt reſponſibility attends every action. The largeſt city in the union has conſtituted you its delegate, and expects from your wiſdom, proſperity and ſafety. Philadelphia had a ſhare in framing the Federal Conſtitution and now entruſts to you its guardianſhip: Theſe Sir, are ſacred depoſits, and none but the infamous can wilfully betray them—It is not then in you we expect to find a traitor—but without the keeneſt vigilance injuries may be ſuſtained and the character of Philadelphia blemiſhed in the national councils.

Recollect, Sir, (for it is a fact and all the world ſhould know it) you are the Repreſentative of the better part of this city. Jacobinic influence was exerted to give ſucceſs to your democratic opponent—but the ſtruggle of virtue and federaliſm was triumphant: You have then the reputation of reſpectable conſtituents to ſupport, and who are willing to reſt themſelves on your juſtice; Your former ſervices whilſt in the State Legiſlature, give them the moſt ſanguine expectations, and implicit confidence in your character.

A heart replete with virtue, and a mind well ſtored with uſeful knowledge, cannot have a better field on which to diſplay their ſeveral qualities, than in the Congreſs of the United States. If your benevolence embraces every claſs of your fellow creatures, the ſituation is equal to the noble wiſh—but the duties attached to this ſtation are ſacred and arduous. You muſt bear part of the weight of a whole empire—feel yourſelf reſponſible for its miſfortunes and conſider every national diſgrace as ruinous to yourſelf. Theſe conſiderations always in your mind will urge you to exert your talents in a bold conflict for honor, liberty and Independence.

The ſubjects which will come before the enſuing Congreſs will moſt probably be particularly important—There is I believe a criſis approaching, when all the vigor of the Fede aliſt muſt be ſummoned to ſave the ſtate from ſinking and defend the conſtitution from the attacks of aſſaſſins. This criſis will agitate Congreſs, and give birth to important events: virtue muſt then ſtand its ground, federaliſts muſt feel the native dignity of their characters—all will depend on firmneſs—by giving an inch, every thing is loſt. We need not look for the ſtab from France—it will come from the boſom of our own country, and the hand which will guide it is no common one.

The ſyſtem of France has been to conquer by dividing. She has a party here, which though weakened is ſtill ſtrong—they are a party of ruffians, men who having nothing to loſe, fear not the conſequences of civil war—emboldened from this motive, they will wield the ſword of ſlaughter with relentleſs fury, and fatten on the ſpoils of their plundered country.

The prominent feature in the character of theſe men is boldneſs—they are indefatigable in doing their work—for their ambitious hearts pant after that eminence which is only acquired in times of anarchy and confuſion in the tempeſtuous ſea of jacobiniſm. The mild and dignified ſuperiority which an eſtabliſhed government gives, or which is derived from the unbiaſſed ſuffrages of a free people, they juſtly view as beyond their attainment; and indeed, is ill ſuited to the turbulent temper of their minds. Every good man ſhould unite with government, in cruſhing this hydra in its infancy and ſhield [illegible] property from ruin. At this trying ſeaſon the mind of the Repreſentative of Philadelphia ſhould be firm, his judgment ſolid, his eye penetrating; regardleſs of private views he ſhould wrap himſelf up in his country's fate and riſe or fall with her: Taking the Conſtitution for his compaſs when he embarks on the wide ocean of American politics, and ſteering equally clear of French and Britiſh factions, he will anchor at the harbors of honor and happineſs. Fortunately, ſir, for our city, your paſt conduct encourages us to expect this character in you, and with the fervency of a ſaint I pray to heaven we may not be deceived. Your future character in life will take its ſtamp from your preſent conduct in Congreſs. Philadelphia has long wanted a proper fixed character to repreſent her. Honor and gratitude will be the rewards of merit and federaliſm.

LUCIUS.

FIRE AT RICHMOND.

[EXTRACT OF A LETTER.]

"Richmond, November 23.

"The city of Richmond exhibited a moſt melancholy ſcene yeſterday. About half an hour after ſun-riſe the alarm of fire was heard. It broke out at the top of a wooden houſe near the centre of the town, where there were a cluſter of wooden buildings, and three brick buildings, very large. The large brick ſtore and dwelling houſe of Meſſ. Gamble and Temple, ſituated at the corner of the Croſs ſtreet, adjoining the houſe where the fire broke out, and a large houſe of brick, within about ten yards of the ſame ſqaare, and belonging to them alſo, were miraculouſly ſaved after being on fire ſeveral times, and in different places, by the great exertions of the citizens, which ſtopped the conflagration from extending up the main ſtreet, but the flames extended down the main ſtreet, and conſumed ten wooden houſes, and one large brick houſe, occupied by two merchants, one of whom had a family—the goods in theſe two ſtores were moſtly ſaved from the flame, but there was a deal of grain conſumed that was in lumber houſes, which could not be got out.

"The ſufferers are Meſſrs. Gamble and Temple, James Innes, Thomas Hooper, Meſſrs. Mitchell and Gaudner, Richard Denny, Meſſrs. Dunn and Watt, and Iſrael J. Cohen, merchants; Meſſrs. Wm. and George Richardſon, jewellers John M'Leod grocer, George Gray and Charles Purcell, ſilverſmith, who loſt every atom of property in his houſe—his wife (who was extremely ill) was ſaved from the flames by ſome enterpriſing man, who went up by a ladder and took her out of the window, the flames being ſo great that ſhe could not come down ſtairs.

N. B. There were alſo ſeveral warehouſes, kitchens, ſtables and other outhouſes conſumed by the fire."

Notwithſtanding there were two engines almoſt conſtantly playing on the houſes, the fire could not be checked until it reached another large brick building (only eight feet from that which was entirely conſumed, which being covered with ſlate or tile, and having a parapet wall around it, was the preſervation of the remaining houſes on that ſide of the ſtreet to the bridge—as nothing but the conſtant ſupply of water from the engines kept this from taking fire. If the flames had not been ſtopped here, every other building in the row on that ſide muſt inevitably have been conſumed, and very probably thoſe on the other ſide of the ſtreet alſo, as many of them were ſeveral times on fire, but were extinguiſhed and ſaved by wet blankets, and knocking the ſhingles off the roofs.

BOSTON, November 24.

When the rejoicings on account of admiral Nelſon's victory took place at Gibraltar the Spaniſh general at St. Roque ſent to enquire the cauſe; and the annunciation of the intelligence to the Spaniard was ſent expreſs to Malaga.

The Aligator and Atalanta hath brought letters directed to the Secretary of State.

An expedition, it was apparent, was in contemplation at Gibraltar. Conjecture had made Malta its object; where the Engliſh expected to be joined by the inhabitants.

On the 6th October, a convoy of veſſels from England arrived at Gibraltar. Amongſt them, three Indiamen tranſports, having on board 25 hundred troops, which were landed at Gibraltar; and an equal number of the garriſon to be embarked, deſtined, as ſuppoſed, on the expedition mentioned above.

A convoy of ſupplies had ſailed from Gibraltar to admiral Nelſon's fleet; under the Coluſſus of 74 guns, capt. Murray.

On Thurſday the Supreme Judicial Court of this Commonwealth, commenced their ſeſſion in this town, by adjournment. In a lengthy charge to the Grand Jury, the Chief Juſtice, after noticing the various duties of that inqueſt, dillated in a plain and intelligent manner, on the definition of Treaſon, miſpriſion of Treaſon and Sedition. He contraſted the rigorous acts of Congreſs, made during the laſt war, with the lenient meaſures of the laſt ſeſſion, which had been made the engine of popular clamour—the latter he ſaid were ſilken cords, while the former were brazen fetters. He mentioned that the common law contemplated ſedition, ſlander and defamation, as crimes fatal to ſociety—that the ſedition act did not ſtop the mouths of the people, nor manacle the preſs; but was a check on the promulgation of falſehood. That every one might comment on adminiſtrators and adminiſtration, provided they did not violate her ſacred rights. That trials for ſedition, were, by a jury of peers, which are of the moſt liberal kind. That the words ſpoken muſt not only be true, but ſpoken with malicious intent. Nay, he demonſtrated, that this law enlarged the people's rights, and circumſcribed the power of the court; that the puniſhment for ſlander and ſedition at common law was undefined and diſcretionary, but is now reſtricted by the ſtatute. The learned judge, in a forcible manner, proved the exiſtence of a French faction in the boſom of our country; and expoſed the French ſyſtem-mongers, from the Quintumvirate, in Paris, to the Vice Preſident and minority in Congreſs, as the apoſtles of atheiſm and anarchy, bloodſhed and plunder.

On Monday at Salem, a beautiful ſhip, pierced for 20 guns was launched. She belongs to Mr. Derry. At Charleſtown, ſame day, the new ſhip Galen, of 261 tons, deſigned for the London trade. Her keel has been laid only about 70 days. She now lies at Rowe's wharf.

PIRATES.

John Mattheaus, Solomon Geer, and Peter Leacock, are held up to public execration, as American French pirates. They have ſailed from Curracoa, in a privateer ſchooner of ten guns. The two latter have declared, that every American they capture, they will ſtrip even of his ſhirt. And every captain of an American armed ſhip, ought to declare, he will uſe his beſt endeavors, that their heads ſhould make buttons for bullets.

Beſides the NINTH confirmation of Nelſon's victory, capt Adams, from Gibraltar, brings an account of a war between the Algerines and Turks.

Mails for South-Carolina & Georgia,

PACKETS are now provided for carrying the Public mails by water between Philadelphia and Charleſton. They will leave Philadelphia on Friday's. The poſt by land will be continued twice a week until an experiment is made in regard to the expedition and regularity of the packets. If any perſon chuſes to have their letters ſent by land only, they will pleaſe to write the word Land upon the letters: otherwiſe they will be ſent by that conveyance which will firſt ſtart after the letters are left in the poſt-office.

BRITAIN'S Wooden Walls," and AMERICA'S "Wooden Walls" reciprocal.

Sunday last came up the Harbour, in 10 days from Newport, Rhode Island, the United States sloop of war Herald, Capt. Sever, and brig Pickering, Capt. Chapman.—The brig Commerce, Capt Childs, came under convoy of these vessels.—The Herald after anchoring fired a salute, which was returned by Fort George, on Citadel Hill. Soon after Capt. Severs, and Capt. Chapman landed in the Herald's barge, and paid their respects to his Excellency the Lieutenant Governor, Vice-Admiral Vandeput, and Brigadier Gen. Murray.—This pleasing presage of a return of harmony and reciprocal friendship, must afford the highest satisfaction to every friend to his country, and the firmness of the Federal Government in refusing to become the dupes of French perfidy and seduction is a sufficient inducement to every British subject, to treat the American flag with the highest respect, and her faithful citizens with every degree of attention and civility.

NEW-YORK, December 1.

Arrived yesterday the ship Eliza, captain Barr, 53 days from Hamburg, with a file of Hamburg papers up to the 6th October last. These papers having been handed to us at a late hour, we cannot in this day's paper give such general details as we could have wished. We have, however, procured the translation of several articles, among which is the declaration of war by the Porte against France. This we conceive to be highly momentous in the present political crisis. In our next we shall lay before our readers such other particulars from our file as we may find interesting and worthy their attention.

"No Peace to the Wicked!"

HOLY WRIT.

TRANSLATED FOR THE MERCANTILE ADVERTISER.

From the State Gazette of Hamburg, of Oct. 2.

VIENNA, September 22.

(From the Court Paper.)

By advices received from Constantinople it appears, that the Porte has formally declared WAR against the French; in consequence whereof the French Minister Ruffin, is conducted to the Prison of the Seven Towers. All the individuals of the French Nation are taken into custody; and all the merchandize, and property belonging to the French, are arrested.

From the same Gazette of the 5th October.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Sept. 6.

The following is the declaration of war by the Sublime Porte against France, published yesterday:—

"At the moment when the Grand Vizier Mehomet Pacha took possession of his station, it was his duty to be attentive to the welfare of the states of the Ottoman Empire, and never to lose sight of the conduct of its enemies: but notwithstanding his duty, motives of self interest engrossed the whole of his attention, and he did not provide himself with the knowledge of the hostile preparations making by the faithless French, nor did he acquaint therewith in due time the inhabitants of Egypt.

"The unfortunate tidings from that quarter came not to our Imperial ears till one month after the disagreeable circumstances happened which have increased our sorrow and uneasiness to such a degree, that (we take God to witness) our tears flowed, and we were deprived of sleep and tranquility.

"Wherefore we have judged it proper to dismiss the said Mehemet Pacha from the station of Grand Vizier; and have named in his stead Jussuf Pacha, Governor of Erzerum; and until his arrival, we nominate you, Mustapha Bay, to fill his station.

"And as it becomes the duty of all the faithful to make war against those infidels, the French, and as it is the unalienable duty of our Imperial person, to deliver these blessed and holy countries from their perfidious hands, and to take vengeance for those injuries done by them to the Mussulmen; so no delay can be suffered until the arrival of the new created vizier; but the strongest measures are to be taken to oppose and attack them both by sea and land.

"Wherefore, consulting to the wisdom of the most learned in our law, the ministers and the chiefs of our subjects, and in a full confidence in God and his Prophet, you are to execute the most efficacious measures to deliver the province of Egypt from the hand of the French.

"You are to announce to the true believers in the said country, that we are at war with France; and by day and night you are to use the most effectual measures to take vengeance on them. You are also to be careful to watch, and to secure the other Mahometan provinces, and our frontiers, against the attacks and the iniquities of the enemy; and for this purpose, to secure every harbour and place with necessary strength, troops, and war materials.

"Also, on the same principles, you are to employ all your zeal and attention, to provide the subjects of this our Imperial residence with the necessary provisions;—and in the whole to watch for the concerns of every individual; until the new Grand Vizier shall arrive.

"We will be attentive to your conduct; and may the Almighty God, with his Godly grace, support our undertakings, and make us prosperous in the defence of our cause.

"SELIM."

From Vienna. 22d September.

It is supposed that the naval engagement near Abukir, in its consequences may be viewed as an epoch in the history of the present times. The victory of Nelson has determined the Porte to declare war against France; against a nation with whom they were for a long time in friendship and alliance. It will even send an army against Buonaparte in Egypt. Eastern Europe, which was in tranquility until this time, is now in warlike connection against the leading Power of the West—against France.

As the French Minister Ruffin at Constantinople is confined in the state prison of the Seven Towers, we are anxious to know what will become of the Turkish Minister in Paris.

The French admiral's ship L'Orient, was blown up, owing to the magazine taking fire On board of her was the military chest and all the treasures of Malta

In consequence of the victory of Nelson, the Egyptians have kept rejoicing, for 3 days along the coast.

September 26.

A private letter from Constantinople mentions that the Grand Seignior has given as a present to the victorious admiral Nelson an Aigrette, of the value of at least 80,000 dollars currency of Constantinople. This rich ornament is of so much distinction, that it is never worn by any person but by the Grand Seignior on his turban. In former times this privilege was only allowed to the Khan of the Tartars.

Admiral Nelson, at the beginning of the engagement was wounded in his face by a splinter; but, although bleeding, he continued on deck during the whole of the battle, without having his wound dressed. He waits for Turkish fire ships to destroy the French transports in the harbour of Alexandria. During the battle the French threw into the sea, several chests of gold and silver.

CHARLESTON, November 14.

Yesterday having been appointed for a general review of the militia of this city, (the regiment of artillery, the regiment of cavalry, and the 28th and 29th regiment of infantry, of which it is composed), paraded as usual on the State House square. Having regulated the line of march, they proceeded to the Washington race course, where a variety of evolutions were performed under the review of Brigadier General Washington, Adjutant Gen. Manning, Major Beekman, and a number of other respectable military characters.

The day afforded a pleasing testimony of the military patriotism order, discipline, and adroitness of the immediate bulwark of American independence; and must have convinced all French Apostles, that the Nation of Terrors can have little to hope from such divisions.

Letter from H. W. Desaussure, Esq. Intendant of this city. to Wm. Jones, Esq. President of the Board of Health, enclosing a bill for 5100 dollars.

Charleston (S. C.) Oct. 9, 1798.

SIR,

THE citizens of Charleston gave learnt with the sincerest regret of the afflicting disease, which has taken off so many of the inhabitants of Philadelphia, and driven the rest from their homes, and exposed them in a great measure unsheltered, to the inconveniences and wants of a temporary exile; under the impression of their sympathy, they have made a contribution for the relief of those distresses which they most sincerely lament. The willing instrument of their kindness, I have the satisfaction to enclose you a draft of the Branch Bank of this city, on the Bank of the United States, for five thousand one hundred dollars, to be applied by the Board of Health, in their discretion, most beneficially for the sufferers.

By the mail boat of this day, I enclose you the duplicate of the bill.

On the sailing of capt. Garman, I shall ship you a quantity of rice (not less I hope than 200 tierces) to be applied to the same purpose.

With the sincerest prayers for the speedy and permanent relief of your city from the disease which has so severely afflicted it.

I am sir, with respect,
Your most obedient servant,
H. W. DESAUSSURE.

Philadelphia, 30th October, 1798.

SIR,

The Board of Managers, of the Marine and City Hospitals, have received your kind expressions of sympathy, for the distresses of our fellow citizens, accompanied with the generous and benevolent donation of five thousand one hundred dollars, in a draft on the Bank of the United States, which was instantly paid.

The Board, Sir, in charging me to express their acknowledgments to the citizens of Charleston, for this liberal and apposite mark of their philanthrophy, have afforded me personal and peculiar satisfaction.

An intimate knowledge of the citizens of Charleston for many years, and a pleasing residence there, has rendered every thing from that quarter, particularly interesting to me, and I pray Heaven to avert from them the dreadful scourge which has exercised their commiseration.

The Rice you mention will be an acceptable relief to the indigent who have to combat the accumulated miseries of an inclement winter.

On behalf of the Board of Managers
I am,
Sir,
With perfect esteem,
Yours very respectfully,
WILLIAM JONES, President.

PHILADELPHIA,

MONDAY EVENING, DECEMBER 3.

This being the day on which, agreeably to the constitution, the congress of the United States were to assemble, forty members of the house of representatives attended in their chamber. Fifty four being requisite to form a quorum, the house adjourned till to-morrow morning at 11 o'clock.

The following Members of the Senate appeared this day:—

Mr. Langdon and Mr. Livermore, New-Hampshire; Mr Foster and Mr. Greene, from Rhode-Island; Mr. Bingham, Pennsylvania; Mr Marshall, Kentucky; Mr. Read, South-Carolina; Mr. Gunn, Georgia; and Mr. Smith, from Tennessee, in room of Mr. Jackson.

The number assembled not being sufficient to form a quorum, the Senate adjourned to 11 o'clock to morrow morning.

Friday, the 30th day of November, being St. Andrew's Day, the St. Andrew's Society of Philadelphia met at the house of B. M'Shane, in Third-street, when the following officers were chosen for the ensuing year:

The Rev. Dr. William Smith, President.
James Craig, Esq. } Vice Presidents.
William Macpherson, Esq. }
Mr. Thomas Ewing, Treasurer.
Mr. David Walker, Secretary.
The Rev. William Marshall, Chaplain.
William H Tod, Esq. Counsellor at Law
Thomas Leiper, }
Wm. Turnbull, }
Wm. M Laws, } Assistants.
John M'Cauly, }
James M'Alpin, }
John Kincaid, }

After the business of the Society was finished, the members, together with the British Ambassador and Consul General, the British Commissioners, the officers of the St. George's and Hibernian Societies, and several guests of distinction, partook of an elegant entertainment provided on the occasion, at which the following toasts were drank:

1. The immortal memory of St. Andrew.
2. The Land of Cakes.
3. The President of the United States, the veteran Patriot and enlightened Statesman—May his wise councils and inflexible integrity continue to crush domestic faction and foreign intrigue; and may he live to conduct our GOOD SHIP INDEPENDENCE into the Harbour of Peace and Safety, while the billows of foreign perfidy break harmless by her side.
4. George Washington, Commander in Chief of the Armies of the United States, the Father of his Country, whose name and virtues, endeared to the present generation, will convey to their posterity, in one illustrious character (to which nothing more can be added) the indelible remembrance of all that was great and good.
5. The People of the United States, and their Representatives in the General as well as the State Governments—May an oblivion of past animosities obliterate party spirit, and the only future strife be the strife of freemen, for pre-eminence in public virtue, and zeal for the honor and independence of their country.
6. The Army, Volunteer Corps, and Militia of the United States—As Citizen Soldiers and a Band of Brothers, animated with the spirit of our revolutionary war, may they follow the call of their Veteran Chief to Victory or Death, in defence of the Constitution and Liberties of their country.
7. The People and Powers of the Old World, who maintain faith and friendship with their descendents in the United States of the New World.
8. Our rising wooden walls—May they become impregnable; and, in defence of our commercial and civil rights, may every naval Commander and Tar of the United States, emulate the glory of a NELSON and his brave BRITISH TARS.
9. The memory of the departed and the happiness of the surviving patriots, statesmen, and Soldiers of our revolutionary war—May their labours in accomplishing and their wisdom in establishing our liberty and independence, upon free and permanent constitutions of government, be forever honored.
10. Timothy Pickering, Oliver Wolcott, James M'Henry, and Benjamin Stoddert, the Secretaries of State, of the Treasury, of War, and of the Navy, alike distinguished, and alike honored, for their wisdom, integrity, and indefatigable industry in their respective departments.
11. General Marshall, General Pinckney, and Elbridge Gerry our late envoys and ministers to the French republic—May their independant spirit, uncorrupt integrity, and eminent diplomatic talents, be a laudable incentive to all present and future Ministers.
12. The Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, the land we live in—may it preserve its rank in the Union, by federal principles and federal exertions.
13. The St. George's Society, the Hibernian Society, the German Incorporated Society, and all benevolent Societies through out the world, may their means be commensurate to the ends of their institution.
14. Scotchmen's Wives and Scotchmen's Bairns, and all who wish to lie in Scotchmen's airms.
15. The American Fair.
16. The Beggar's Benison.

VOLUNTEERS.

By the British Minister. Perpetual good understanding between Great Britain and America.

By the President of the Hibernian Society. May we live all the days of our lives.

By James Craig, Esq. Vice President of the St. Andrew Society, Every honest man his own, and every rogue a halter.

By the President of the St. Andrew Society. The memory of our late President, Judge Wilson.

By the Vice President of St. George Society. May the doors of hospitality never turn on rusty hinges.

By J. Craig, Esq. Perpetual itching, without the benefit of scratching, to the enemies of our Government.

Toast by the St. Andrew's Society of New-York:—

"The gallant NELSON, every Officer, and every Seamen of his fleet. 3 cheers."

Extract of a letter from Newry, dated September 8th, 1798.

"I have omitted mentioning that about 1800 French troops landed in Sligo bay, about ten days ago, who have every man been taken by our troops, with every thing they had."

Extract of a letter from Holland, dated the 30th of August, 1798, written by a gentleman of the highest respectability, and on the correctness of whose judgment, and information, the most implicit confidence may be placed.

"The energy and great respectability of the United States, has produced a face of things in the Directory of Paris, from which we may yet see the rights of neutral nations in general respected. It would dilate every artery in you to see the glory which is spreading over the United States, at this moment, in the eyes of Europe. She comes on the stage, at an instant, highly propitious to eclat, when the heart of this continent had sunk: She places her foot with firmness; France recoils, and every body is revived, and in triumph; for France does recoil, and I believe that reflection will but confirm, what astonishment first produced; and that she will recoil further, if we will preserve a steady aspect and a vigourous preparation. God bless my country—she indeed acts to a charm."

The ship Clothier, capt. Gardner, arrived here yesterday, left Liverpool the 5th of October, consequently brings nothing later than the America, arrived at New York; but it was reported that the fleet, which lately left Brest was on the western coast of Ireland, and there was little doubt but the whole would be taken, as a very vigilant look out after them was kept by detachments of the British fleet.

The brig Liberty, captain Lillibridge, arrived here yesterday from Bourdeaux, sailed the begining of October. We do not find that captain Lillibridge brings a confirmation of the account of peace being concluded at Rastadt, as mentioned in a letter from Nantz, received at New-York.

Private letters by the Clothier, from Liverpool, intimate, that a party of French, amounting to about 7,000, after having effected a landing in Ireland, were all either cut to pieces or made prisoners.

Yesterday afternoon arrived in this city from Detroit territory, north west of the river Ohio (last from New York) accompanied by J. Scheiffelin, Esq. Agent of Indian affairs, and Whitmore Knapp, Interpreter, the following Chiefs of the Ottawa, Chippawa and Poutewatamy nations, viz.

Abewdy, Matchipasquisigan, Ottawa nation.

Mangy, Chippawa nation.

Kisses on the Sun, Okia, Poutewatamy nation.

The following was sung in London, extempore, by one of the actors at the Theatre, the night the news came of Nelson's defeating the Sanculottes fleet.

To the Tune of—Washington's March.

Hail! brave Nelson's glorious band!
Of British tars, near Egypt's land
Who conquer'd the stout fleet of France—
The fleet of all aspiring France.
Hail great George! our glorious king,
May ev'ry day fresh victory bring:
Our fleet triumphant may they ride,
And crush the Sanculottish pride:
May ne'er a ship of France remain
To plunder, rob upon the main.
Let Briton's sons united be,
In crushing their curst enemy.
We'll slog and drub them if we meet,
And hurl the tyrants from their seat.
Being sung unexpectedly, it met with great applause.

A CAUTION TO THE PUBLIC.
JOHN A. SHAEFFER, of Philadelphia, who has for a few years past been in the southern States, has had the effrontery to draw several Bills of Exchange on Timothy Pickering, Esq. Secretary of State, and myself, and by that means has defrauded a number of persons of their money, deceiving them by an exhibition of letters and papers with the names affixed of divers public characters and reputable merchants highly recommendatory of said Shaeffer; to one of these papers I find my name subscribed, but I do not know the man; these are villainous forgeries! To prevent further imposition, I have to request the printers of Newspapers in the United States to publish this for the benefit of their fellow-citizens.
